POWERS ARE LANDING TROOPS

Interests Chiefly Concerned in the Disturbed Districts Are Said to Be Nearly All American.

Tien Tsin, May 30.—American, British, Japanese, German, Italian, Russian and French troops to the number of 100 each have been ordered to guard their respective legations in Pekin, but the convoy here will not allow them to proceed hence to Pekin on the railway without the authority of the Tsung Li Yamen.

One hundred and eight Americans with a machine gun and a field gun joined here last night and the enthusiasm on the part of the residents. Two Russians and one British war ship have arrived at Taku and the British are now landing.

Other war ships are hourly expected. Three thousand Chinese troops from Lao Tai are expected here today en route to Fang Tai.

It is believed here that the "Boxers" will disperse before the foreign troops are ready to act.

Tiwn Tain is in no danger.

The rescue party of Frenchmen and Germans returned rode from Chang Tien Tai afternoon. They confirm the report that besieged Belgians are now safe at Peking. They found several thousand "Boxers" about the ruins of Lu Kow Chiao and Chang Hsin Tien stations. The bridges have been damaged and the rolling stock destroyed. At both places the damage done is considerably greater than at Fang Tai. The members of the rescue party saw several bodies of Chinese tearing up the sleepers and in one case the mandarin was looking on. They report further that the missionaries and others escaped from Pao Ting in boats.

The imperial railway directory is endeavoring to fasten the blame for the damage at Fang Tai on the foreign employes, principally the Britons, whom they say should not have left their posts. The foreigners, however, did not leave until they saw Lu Kow Chiao station, five miles away, in flames and an attack had actually commenced on an engine from Fang Tai, which was running on the Lu Han line in an attempt to rescue the Belgians.

The foreign men of war have arrived here today. Five Russian warships and two Russian gunboats one French warship, two British warships and one Italian warship are all landing men.

ADDITIONAL ATROCITIES COMMITTED BY BOXERS

Pekin, Tuesday, May 29.—From all parts of the surrounding country news is constantly arriving of fresh atrocities committed by the "Boxers." Three Christian families were massacred at Chen Lai-Ying, city miles from Pekin, Friday, May 25. Only two escaped.

A representative of the Associated Press visited Fang Tai this morning and found the place occupied by a battalion of troops. The whole railroad station, workshops and locomotive sheds were gutted and much rolling stock was destroyed, including the imperial palace car company. The go-downs (Chinese warehouses) full of valuable merchandise, were burned yesterday, having been fired by the rioters. The damage is estimated at half a million taels.

The neighboring villagers seem to have joined in the attack, showing that the movement is not confined to the "Boxers." Eight rebels were captured while we decapitated.

Riding through the south gate of Pekin, the correspondent found the road inside the walls lined with troops, who greeted the traveler and his party with a fusilade of stones.

The whole country is much excited.

COMMENT IN WASHINGTON ON CHINESE REBELLION

Washington, May 30.—Not a word has been received at the state or navy departments from any of the officials in China since yesterday's report from Minister Conger. Communication by cable is still open, and it is assumed by some that no news is being sent, or that no sensible change in the situation, or at any rate none affecting American interests.

In fact, these interests have so far not been directly attacked during the present uprising by the "Boxers," and some department officials direct attention to the fact that up to this time the missionaries have been confined to native Christians. Not a single American citizen has been killed, so far as is known.

If the situation were to continue on the basis it might be difficult to find ground for such arbitrary action as the sending of United States marines in the Chinese capital, but Mr. Conger's reports so clearly indicated the apprehension that the development of the "Boxers" uprising would involve the jeopardy of American life and property, the state department could no longer neglect his warning, hence the dispatch of marines to Pekin.

The dispatches from China here recently have contained statements that the marine corps had decided to ask the Chinese foreign office to define explicitly the measures the government intended to take in dealing with the "Boxers," and yesterday a edict prohibiting the organization, under the penalty of death, is in all probability the "response" to the representations made. That the document is couched in equivocal terms is not surprising to officials here who are acquainted with conditions in China.

The empress belongs to what is known as the "Reactionary party" in Chinese politics and the emperor, be that under her influence, it is not surprising that the edict is as stated, more of an excuse for the movement than a condemnation of it.

GERMAN CITIZENS NOT YET ATTACKED BY "BOXERS"

Berlin, May 30.—Regarding the disorders fomented by the "Boxers," a high official said today:

"German citizens have not yet been attacked. Germany, therefore, has been following the lead of France in diplomatic action, her citizens being more immediately affected. The case will be otherwise if the German legation at Pekin is attacked."

When asked if it were true that 160 German marines had joined 100 French marines for the rescue of the imperiled foreigners, he replied:

"There have been no calls for marines. It must have been the civilian Germans acting upon their own responsibility."

The foreign office attributes the troubles in China to the hostile attitude of the present Chinese government towards foreigners.

THE REBELLION IS GRAVE BUT MAY BE SUPPRESSED

London, May 31.—Sir Halliday Macartney, counsellor and English secretary to the Chinese legation in London, says he regards the rebellion as grave, although he is hopeful that it may be suppressed. The danger lies, he says, in the fact that among the Chinese there are "large numbers of inflammable persons."

"The 'Boxers' is a new organization, Sir Halliday never heard of it during his twenty years residence in China. Its members, he says, hate all white men.

In American mission circles in London it is said that the interests chiefly concerned in the disturbed districts of China are American. It is pointed out that several important American mission stations with women among the members of their staff are at Pao Ting Fu, where the missionaries are reported to be cut off.

A dispatch received here today says the "Boxers" have attacked and burned a mission station at Lau Tsun, 40 miles southwest of Peking and have murdered the missionary in charge.

INSURGENTS SURPRISED A TOWN NEAR MANILA

Manila, May 31, 5 a. m.—On Tuesday night the insurgents rushed San Miguel de Mayumo, province of Bulacan, Luzon, garrisoned by three companies of the Twenty-fifth volunteer infantry. They swept through the surprised town shooting right and left. Killing five Americans and wounding seven.

Captain Charles D. Roberts and two privates are missing. No Filipino dead were discovered.

San Miguel de Mayumo is a few miles from Manila.

While a band under the escort of troops of the Forty-sixth infantry was moving from Biang to Silang, within 25 miles of Manila, it was attacked by Ladrones, three of the party being killed.

GERMAN COMMENTS ON AMERICAN RETALIATION

Berlin, May 30.—There is considerable comment upon the bill introduced today in the United States house of representatives by Mr. Bailey of Texas, empowering the president to impose and collect an additional duty of 10 per cent on all imports from Germany in the event of an enforcement of the meat inspection bill in its present form.

The government, however, does not yet attach special importance to Mr. Bailey's proposal, believing that nothing will come of it.

A foreign office official, who was interrogated today respecting the matter defined the attitude of the German government as above set forth, but declined to discuss the bearing of Mr. Bailey's action upon the meat inspection bill.

The correspondent of the Associated Press learns from a reliable source that the British ambassador, Sir Frank Lascelles, has made diplomatic representations to the German government against the meat inspection bill as likely to work injury to Australian exports.

PRETORIA IS ABANDONED

Yesterday Noon British Were Within Two Hours March.

THE WAR REGARDED AS ENDED

War Office Does Not Give Out Official Confirmation of the News But It Is Generally Believed.

London, May 31.—2 a. m. The Daily Mail published the following despatch from the earl of Rosslyn, who was a prisoner at Pretoria, but who, as a civilian, appears to have been released:

Pretoria, Wednesday, May 30, 11:15 a. m. Pretoria will be occupied in about two hours, without resistance. The president has gone to Waterval boven. Burgomaster De Souza is authorized to receive the British. He, with an influential committee of citizens, including Chief Justice Gregorowski, has been appointed to preserve property during the interregnum.

Everything is quiet, but crowds are waiting expectantly in church square for the arrival of the British.

"Fearing a possible disturbance and bloodshed among the prisoners of war at Waterval, United States Consul Hay and Leigh Wood insisted upon twenty officers being liberated on parole to go to the men. Their action cannot be too highly praised.

"I was permitted to accompany the officers. Everything was quiet."

THE BRITISH FLAG PROBABLY NOW FLOATS IN THE TRANSVAAL CAPITAL

London, May 31.—3 a. m.—Yesterday at noon the British were only about two hours march from Pretoria, and the Boer military forces had abandoned the city.

This intelligence comes from the Reuter agent at the transvaal capital, and from the Earl of Rosslyn in a press dispatch. The two messages left about the same time.

office had received no news from Lord Roberts which the officials would make public, but it is assumed that the press advices are correct.

Most of the London morning papers, through the courtesy of the Daily Mail, print Lord Rosslyn's dispatch and comment upon it, treating the war as ended.

Some of the more cautious critics think that guerrilla warfare is likely to be carried on for some time in various parts of the conquered territory.

Boer Forces Dissolving.

All the Boer forces are dissolving, Lord Roberts, apparently has not yet taken any considerable quantities of artillery, arms or stores. Large bodies of Boers must still be somewhere in the field.

Waterval boven or Waterfallboven is 130 miles due east of Pretoria, on the Delagoa Bay railway. It should not be confused with Waterval, ten miles north of Pretoria, where the British prisoners are. Waterval boven is a small place in a mountainous country.

The seat of the Boer government—wherever it may be—is at Lydenburg, to the north.

Johannesburg Abandoned.

A dispatch from Lorenzo Marquez, dated Wednesday, says:

"Commandant Kraus has surrendered Johannesburg to Lord Roberts. By tonight's train from Pretoria arrived a few Greeks, who say they were told to leave Pretoria Tuesday. They affirm that the train in which they left was shelled by the British, and that they saw British troops at Elandsfontein.

"Passengers from Pretoria assert that the town is utterly demoralized. There is a mad rush for the coast. Five train loads of fugitives were expected here tonight."

Trouble with Portugal.

4 a. m.—The Lorenzo Marquez correspondent thinks the border trouble between the Transvaal and Portugal may come to a head at any moment. Komati bridge is strongly defended. Yesterday the Portuguese authorities were preparing to resist a possible engagement. A mule battery was sent to the frontier.

The Lorenzo Marquez correspondent of the Times says:

"It would not be surprising if a large proportion of the rebel Dutch sought temporary refuge on Portuguese territory. Although the authorities here are sufficient, they are not blind to such a possibility."

It is reported that a special train from Pretoria with fugitives was derailed on the Transvaal side of Komatiport, a number of passengers being killed or injured.

The British authorities at Buluwayo think the Boers will retire into Southern Rhodesia.

Brigade of Prisoners.

By the release of the British prisoners at Waterval a full brigade will be added to the army of Lord Roberts, as there were 127 officers and 4,222 privates among them.

OFFICIAL BOER BULLETIN REPORTS BRITISH REPULSE

Pretoria, May 29.—(Tuesday)—An official war bulletin just issued says:

"On Sunday a fight occurred at Van Wyck's Rust in Catsrand. The federals fought well and the British were repulsed with heavy loss.

"The British attacked Witwatersrand yesterday and were in contact with the federals at Catsrand; but they were beaten back with good results by the federals under Commandant Louis Botha. The federals were heavily bombarded all day long but very few casualties occurred.

"The British attacked in force Van Wyck's Rust on account of the overwhelming force of the British.

"The British are near Utrecht and they are marching on Laing's Nek."

CEREMONY OF ANNEXING THE ORANGE FREE STATE

Bloemfontein, Monday, May 28.—Amid salutes and cheers and the singing of "God Save the Queen," the military governor, Major General George Prattyman, at noon formally proclaimed the annexation of the Free State under the designation of the Orange River Colony. The ceremony was somewhat imposing, and the scene in the market square inspiring. An immense concourse had gathered and the town was gay with bunting. The balconies and windows surrounding the square were crowded with ladies, among them Lady Roberts and the Misses Roberts, the Countess of Airlie and the Ladies Henry Pratt-Prettyman.

The troops were drawn up under command of General Kave and surrounded the spectators. The governor, accompanied by General Kelly-Kenny and their staffs, escorted by the Welsh yeomanry, was greeted with a gun salute. Then amid an impressive silence and in a clear voice heard in every part of the square, General Prettyman read Lord Roberts' proclamation annexing the Orange Free State as conquered by her majesty's forces, to the queen's dominions and proclaiming that the state shall henceforth be known as the Orange River Colony.

Lusty cheers greeted the concluding words of the proclamation and these were renewed with ever increasing volume as Lord Acheson unfurled the royal standard and the bands struck up "God Save the Queen," all present joining in singing the national hymn. The ceremony concluded with cheers for the queen, Lord Roberts and the army and a salute of 21 guns.

ANOTHER PLAGUE CASE SUSPECTED IN CHINATOWN

San Francisco, May 30.—The city board of health today held an autopsy on the body of a Chinaman found last night in a Chinese undertaking establishment.

A member of the board stated that the result of the autopsy strongly indicated that the Chinaman died of the bubonic plague. In order to fully demonstrate whether or not it was a case of plague, cultures were taken from the glands for the purpose of making animal inoculation. Dr. Shrady of New York, assisted in the autopsy. Dr. Kellogg, bacteriologist of the board of health, was asked if the case was similar to the nine already reported. He said:

"No, it is not. In fact, we have not yet had two cases alike and this last one is different from any of the former cases. It has not yet been verified but all indications point to the conclusion that it is another case of plague. We shall use the same test as in the others and after the cultures have sufficiently developed will inoculate a number of animals with the bacillus. That is the only infallible test."

According to Dr. Williamson, president of the board of health, the cordon around the outskirts of Chinatown may continue for six weeks.

"Other things being equal," said he in the course of an interview today, "we might feel justified in raising the quarantine in six weeks—that is to say, if the cleanliness of the district is such as to preclude the possibility of infection remaining in the various habitations of the Chinese and others living there."

The doctor then referred to the deductions of Dr. Shrady of New York, whom he described as "one of the most eminent specialists in the United States."

Dr. Shrady has not only endorsed the action of the board of health, but has stated that every death reported to the board as having resulted from plague was accurately reported by the board's bacteriologist.

ALBERT FRANCIS JUDD

Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Hawaii Is Dead. Other Items from Honolulu.

San Francisco, May 30.—The steamer Gaelic, from Hong Kong and Yokohama via Honolulu, brings the following advices to the Associated Press from Honolulu, dated May 29:

Albert Francis Judd, chief justice of the supreme court of Hawaii, died at his residence, Nuuanu Valley, on the 20th. He had been ill for several months.

Albert Francis Judd was the son of Dr. and Mrs. Gerrit P. Judd, who came here under the auspices of the American board of commissioners for foreign missions, on the ship Parthian, arriving at Honolulu March 30, 1828. He was born at Honolulu January 7, 1838.

He graduated from Yale in 1858, both as a bachelor of arts and in the law school when he was 20 years of age.

Chief Justice Judd's political career began with his appointment as attorney general of the kingdom under Lunalilo, in 1872. He became first associate justice February 1, 1877, and on the death of Chief Justice Harris, became Chief Justice November 5, 1881.

The Democrats have taken the first step for the organization of the party in the territory of Hawaii.

The gathering was one that filled the hall to its capacity and numbered fully 500. Those who called the meeting and felt themselves sponsors in some degree for the movement, declared with one voice as being thoroughly pleased and satisfied with the outlook.

A report comes from Kona that in a riot among the Japanese employes of a plantation two men were killed and a number injured. The trouble arose over the refusal of a number of men to join in a strike for a holiday on the occasion of the wedding of the crown prince. The strikers went in a body to compel the workers to quit for the day and the trouble arose, resulting as above stated. Officers have been sent to the scene of the trouble.

NO SIGN OF AGUINALDO.

Manila, May 30.—Major Maarch's van of the Thirty-third regiment, has arrived at Aparri from Cengnet after the hardest of mountain traveling. The men were exhausted and ragged, having followed persistently on the supposed Aguinaldo trail. They had several encounters with the rebels, but found no sign of Aguinaldo.

FIRE IN WISCONSIN TOWN.

Iron River, Wis., May 30.—Fire started shortly after noon in the power house and spread quickly to the Alexander and Edgar Lumber mill, if then spread toward the lumber yards, which contained 18,000,000 feet of lumber. The wind is from the west and the whole town is in danger. A call has been made to Superior for engines and help.

NATION NOT UNGRATEFUL

An Unusually Impressive and General Observance of Memorial Day.

A MONUMENT AT ANTIETAM

Dedicated With Appropriate Ceremonies in the Presence of Union and Confederate Veterans.

Hagerstown, Md., May 30.—Another link in the chain which binds together the once warring factions of the north and south was forged today by the dedication of a monument erected to the memory of men who wore the gray as well as those who wore the blue, and who died in mortal combat on the bloody field of Antietam.

The event, which is probably without a parallel in the history of the world, was graced by the presence of the president of the United States accompanied by many members of his cabinet, a score or more of United States senators, thrice as many members of congress, the governor of Maryland and prominent men from all over the country.

Veterans Re-United.

There also were present hundreds of veterans who fought for the lost cause, and thousands who fought for the side that proved victorious. Side by side, shoulder to shoulder, they stood with uncovered heads throughout the ceremony which marked the conveyance of the monument from the state of Maryland to the national government.

All animosities forgotten, they listened to the simple stories of those who told of the heroism of the dead, and of the desperate struggles of those who survived and still live to tell of the day of carnage and strife. A great crowd of others who had come down from the adjoining country to witness the spectacle and to greet the chief executive of the nation, added by their presence the impressiveness of the ceremonies, and added to the significance of the occasion.

The train which brought the president and members of his cabinet and the congressional party from Washington reached the battlefield at noon, where they were welcomed by Governor John Walter Smith, of Maryland, and staff, Adjutant General Saunders, a delegation of the officers of the Maryland National Guard and several posts of the Grand Army of the Republic of the division of Maryland, together with members of Herbert camp of Confederate veterans, women, others and survivors of Brockenbrough's battery of Artillery, which fought with the Confederate troops and distinguished itself at Antietam. Besides these organized bodies were scores of Confederate veterans who had taken part in the various battles of the civil war. These were drawn up in line to greet the president, who, together with Governor Smith, watched them as they passed in review.

Dedicatory Ceremonies.

The dedicatory ceremonies were opened by Colonel Benjamin F. Taylor, who introduced General Henry Kyd Douglas, director of ceremonies. Prayer was offered by the Rev. B. F. Clarkson, who was followed by Governor John Walter Smith, in an address of welcome.

Colonel Taylor as president of the Antietam Battlefield Commission of Maryland, then presented the monument to the national government and the Hon. Elihu Root, secretary of war, in a brief address, accepted it on behalf of the United States. Then followed short addresses, mainly of a reminiscent character by Generals John B. Gordon, James Longstreet, Orlando B. Willcox, J. E. Duryee, Senators Foraker, Burrows, Daniel, and others who were prominent on the opposing sides in the great struggle.

These were followed in turn by the Hon. George B. McClellan of New York, and other members of the United States senate and house of representatives. These concluded, the band played "Hail to the Chief" and General Douglas introduced President McKinley.

The President's Speech.

The president said:

"It appears only on this moment that I may make acknowledgment for your courteous greetings and express my sympathy and approval. I am glad to meet on this memorable field the followers of Lee and Jackson and Longstreet with the followers of Grant, Sherman and Sheridan, greeting each other with affection and respect.

"One reflection only has crowded my mind, the difference between this and that of 38 years ago. Then the thunder greeted the gray with shot and shell. We meet after all three years with but one sentiment, that of loyalty to the government and love for our flag and determined to make any sacrifice for the American union. I am glad of that meeting between Grant and Lee at Appomattox; I am glad we were kept together and the union was saved.

"There must be comfort in the fact that American soldiers never surrendered to anyone but American soldiers. I am glad to preside over a nation of 80,000,000 people more united than they have ever been. The achievements of that war are the heritage of those who failed and those who prevailed. When we went to war two years ago, the men of the south vied with those of the north in heroism. Together the men of the north and the south are standing today for the flag that we love and which proudly waves over us all."

The exercises closed with a benediction by the Rev. William Dame.

Description of Monument.

The monument is of granite and bronze, octagon, 22 feet in diameter at the base and 35 feet high to the top of the statue. Upon the base rest columns representing eight Maryland commands who were present at the battle, united in supporting the "temple of liberty," which is of bronze and forms the canopy. The whole is surmounted by a bronze statue, representing "Peace," with sword sheathed and pointed downward. The figure holds a laurel wreath over the hilt of the sword. On four of the faces of the monument are bronze bas-reliefs representing scenes in the battle.

The movement to erect the monument grew out of a desire of the Maryland members of the Grand Army of the Republic to honor the dead of Maryland, who fell in the battle. The Grand Army at first contemplated erecting the monument only to commemorate the Union dead, but Norman C. Scott, state senator from Washington county in 1894 was influential in having the appropriation include the Confederate dead.

The commission was appointed at the session of the general assembly in 1898, the sum of $12,000 being appropriated to erect a monument and suitably mark the location of the several Maryland commands engaged on both sides.

The battlefield is near Sharpsburg, Md., a place beautiful in itself at this season, but rendered still more beautiful by the many monuments erected there and ornamented by beautiful roads constructed by order of the United States government.

The commissioners having in charge the erection of the monument were Benjamin F. Taylor (president); Gen. Henry Kyd Douglas, Captain Joseph M. Shudsberg, Messrs. George Jemmon, Osmun Latrobe, William Gibson, Theodore J. Vanneman, William H. Parker and William F. Dement and Lieutenant George H. Graham, secretary.

NEW YORK

Parade was Unusually Large. Special Services were Held at General Grant's Tomb.

New York, May 30.—With almost perfect weather conditions Memorial Day was generally observed in this city.

The parade this year was unusually large and along its route, Fifth avenue, from Twenty-third street to Washington Square, was gay with bunting and packed with people.

Special services were held at the grave of General John A. Dix, where an address was delivered by Rev. Dr. J. L. Hurlbut, chaplain of the Empire State society, Sons of the American Revolution.

Special services of an impressive character were held at Grant's tomb, where Lieutenant Governor Woodruff was the principal speaker. Other addresses were delivered and a salute fired.

At nearly all of the cemeteries appropriate services were held.

One of the features of the parade was a company of 100 Roosevelt's Spanish war veterans who paraded in the uniforms they wore in Cuba.

IN MANILA

Military Ceremonies and Memorial Exercises in the Capital of the Philippines.

Manila, May 30.—Memorial Day was observed here as a general holiday.

Military ceremonies were held at the various stations and salutes were fired from the forts at Santiago and Manila.

A military escort proceeded to the Malate cemetery, where the graves of the United States soldiers were decorated and an address was made by the chaplain.

Memorial services were held in the theater, at which a number of addresses were delivered, interspersed with vocal and instrumental music.

The observance of the day was very successful.

IN PARIS

Customary Celebration of Memorial Day at the Grave of General Lafayette.

Paris, May 30.—About 250 Americans gathered at the Picpus cemetery today at the customary celebration at the grave of General Lafayette.

Speeches were made by General Horace Porter, the United States ambassador; Col. Clark E. Carr, Commissioner General Ferdinand W. Peck and C. Lafayette, the reputed great grandson of the general.

A number of wreaths from various American societies were laid on the tomb.

PITTSBURG.

Pittsburg, Pa., May 30.—Memorial day was observed with more than usual interest. The weather was fine and impressive services were held at the various cemeteries by the G. A. R., Sons of Veterans, Spanish war service men and the National Guard. At St. Mary's cemetery, a monument to Bartley Campbell, the playwright, was unveiled. The ceremonies were private and in charge of his family.

IN BERLIN.

Berlin, May 30.—The United States embassy and consulate were hung with American flags today in honor of Decoration day.

The German-American society celebrated the occasion this evening at the Bavarian restaurant.

ST. THOMAS D. W. I.

St. Thomas, D. W. I., May 30.—The crew of the United States coast survey steamer Blake, now undergoing repairs here, decorated the graves of Rhodes of the Dixie, who died here in February last.

HOUSE SESSION.

Patriotic Sentiment Too Strong to Permit Business.

Washington, May 30.—The programme of the leaders of the house today contemplated the launching of the debate upon the anti-trust resolution and bill, but there was a strong undercurrent in favor of adjournment on account of Decoration day.

Mr. Dalzell, who presented the special order under which the house was to operate, in deference to this sentiment withdrew it in order that the 190 pension bills might be passed and after they had been disposed of, as a further mark of respect, the house adjourned.

The Chinese commission bill which was under consideration several weeks ago, has gone back to the calendar, the motion to strike out the enacting clause having been defeated today.

CARNEGIE'S WEALTH

New York, May 30.—Henry W. Lucy, M. P., writing to the Tribune from London, quotes a friend of Andrew Carnegie as saying that the iron master lately declared that his possessions, readily convertible into hard cash, amount to two hundred million dollars.

THE NEWS OF CRIPPLE CREEK

Grand Army Day in the Great Gold Camp

UNUSUALLY WELL OBSERVED

Ceremonies at the Cemetery were Especially Interesting and Impressive Addresses of the Day.

Special to the Gazette

Cripple Creek May 30—This was Grand Army day in the great gold camp. The business and professional men laid aside their everyday cares to join for a short time to the march of that grand Army of the Republic whose members year by year march more feebly forward to meet the veteran hosts who have gone before. Yesterday was one of those days that the natural world sometimes gives us to remind us how short our lives are, that the mind might live above the petty strife that so often reduces life to a battle with the trivial cares of time and whose effect is to make us more vigorous every succeeding year.

There are comparatively few members of the James A. Garfield post in this city. Many have moved away, but there are still a good number left who could not be induced to miss Memorial day. The small band still remaining would have made but a small showing today.

But with the army patriotic citizens, school children, the militia company and the veterans of the Philippines marching and parading side by side with the people in the spirit of patriotism they showed in the march from the flag pole at the Bennett avenue bridge up Bennett avenue to Third to the cemetery. The day was ideal for the purpose, and a large number of people turned out to gather in the fold of the flag to do honor to the memory of the departed heroes who fought for the union.

The procession was led by the police force, followed by the command of Chief Burton. Then came the Cripple Creek band, followed by company H, N. G. C., mounted on carriages and by Order of Red Men. A set followed some of the county officials and chief officers in a carriage. The fire department next in order made a grand display, the men being in full regalia, and with the hand and hose carts. The members of the Bennett avenue fire department, at the head of Bennett avenue and Third street, joined the procession at Third and Bennett avenue. The procession then moved to the cemetery, where a large number of people had gathered. The day was ideal for the purpose, and a large number of people had gathered. The day was ideal for the purpose, and a large number of people had gathered. The day was ideal for the purpose, and

SPORTING

Opening of the Spring Race Meet

The loss of several hundred dollars on the novelty race yesterday was not the fault of the horsemen nor the starter. It was because the people did not understand the race, and yet who came this morning because you have dropped your "wad" should not blame anyone but yourselves. Aside from the last race the novelty race was the feature of the programme, but read about fortune later.

The Summer meeting of the Colorado Springs Driving association which began yesterday afternoon under such auspicious circumstances will doubtless be the best ever held in this city. No deception of man will cause it to be otherwise, for the material is here and there is a strong rivalry between horsemen to carry off all the honors possible. The bookies want the earth, but it is to be hoped that they do not want it for long. In point of fact they asked for it yesterday and got it, but clashed with the horsemen after the races, and, something better than they anticipated, may be expected today. If the understanding reached between them is still in vogue. That understanding was no understanding at all, the winner is starting for horsemen, as was evidenced when he kept the steeds at the post in the last race for a solid hour, in order to get them off according to his notion of fairness, and also when he considered the wind of the animals in the novelty race. The books are making 150 per cent sheets in their favor, which is high. A 20 or 50 per cent book would be all that the crowd would stand on eastern tracks, and then if the stakes worked for the books there would be a kick. But a Colorado Springs crowd, especially on the first day, is so delighted with the sport that it was not until after the card was run off and the fact that the highest odds offered in any event—all of which were full—was 10 to 1, and that exceeded all others by several.

The crowd was a representative one, the grand stand being crowded with the cream of the city's population, while the grounds were a perfect sea of occupied vehicles. The lines were nearly all full, and the betting ring would not hold the talent, touts and tenderfeet, each class of which was well-represented. The "private club" organized by the "boys" did a rushing business under the north end of the grand stand.

For the first race, the pace, the books asked 10 to 3 on Arline B. advanced and offered 3 to 5, but backed up to 1 to 2 when a little green goods floated up. After starting out such a strong favorite, the mare went in the air in the last quarter of the first heat and finished third, but offered encouragement to her backers by passing under the wire on the first mile-and-an-easy length. After that she took three heats with Penchant won second money, taking second place in three heats. Penchant and Specs made a pretty collar to collar race under the wire on the first half of the fourth heat and sawed around the track to the last eighth.

Ed Winship was voted a ringer by the talent after he took three straight heats of the way for but the bookies wore smiles when the judges set him back to third place in the third heat for running. Another trial, however, confirmed the first suspicion in the ring. Winship was polled at 1 to 2, and actually went up to 1 to 4, but the good odds came only in the first betting for the fourth heat. D. E. Casaday, owner and driver of Red Cliff, who has but one arm, excited much admiration, and there was a fair amount of betting at from 6 to 5 down to 2 to 1, but he got in a little pocket in the second heat and the final result showed him second only in one heat, winning was pulled in the fourth heat to save distancing the others.

The runners stirred the enthusiasm. A horse race always rouses any horse blood a crowd is likely to have if the cash is good, and those of yesterday were that kind.

Jones steered R. Q. Pan in first by two lengths, while Jilanone was second by a length. These spaces prevailed at the half and most around for that matter, for R. Q. Pan jumped out—to all healthy lead, as is his custom, and dallied with the others. This horse is known as one of the greatest scorers in America. He sold at 2 to 5 on 5 for betting and fluctuated but slightly, commanding 1 to 2 on third board. Still the private bookies doubled dip, 2 to 1 against the field, and "go" and sent the horses near.

The novelty race, which came fourth, was full of exciting features and cuss words. Melody is a good mare if she will run, but when Melody takes a notion not to run much, all the jocks and assistant starters in the country, including Jack Chinn and his characteristic, can not make her go. Yesterday the books took in $400 in small bets on Melody to win one or more of the quarters. The race was divided into quarters, one-fourth of the purse to go to the winner of each, but Melody didn't even go her customary five furlongs like a lady, but acted mean and ran with balky feet. But the crowd did not swear at this so much as the way the horses were pulled.

Now a book-maker is not supposed to tell how far a horse is good for and the tenderfeet who kicked played without learning anything about the wind of the animal. Seconds, the quarter horses pulled up after running the quarter, and the half horses checked after doing a half, and so on. It would have been useless for them to go ahead, for Terrene is known to be a good mile-horse, good for a mile and an eighth under favorable circumstances. Therefore, when Torsion and Terrene were the only ones that passed the mile on the run, it was a sore crowd that went after the bookies.

The last race was particularly good because it took an hour to start. The boys and horses were restless and it seemed could not break with reason, but Moxie Brauer held them until it came to an even break and no starter could have got them on better. For the entire five-eighths the horses were bunched with Master Mariner holding the fence and half a length lead. He finished first by two lengths with Cousin Letty and Jolly Gyp whipping in neck and neck.

Today's races will be fraught with great interest. The fourth event will be for the Gentlemen's Driving club of Denver and the Colorado Springs Hunt club, the jockeys to be members of one of the organizations. A purse of $150 and a special prize of Clarendon Cazanove champagne are offered.

It is to be hoped the managers of the meet will see that more cards are on time today and hold every horseman mentioned for the benefit of the crowd.

DIAMOND JUBILEE WON AT LONDON

London, May 30.—The present generation will never efface the scene when the Prince of Wales' Persimmon captured the Blue Ribbon of the turf, but today's demonstration when Persimmon's own brother gave the Prince of Wales a second derby was almost its equal. For a moment, within fifty yards of the pole, Simon Dale's Wonderful Stride seemed to threaten the favorite's chances. His head reached Diamond Jubilee's girth, but the latter's splendid form enabled him to maintain a short length lead until, in the midst of mighty cheers, he passed the post a winner. The crowds then went wild with cheering. Hats, flags, sticks, etc., flew in the air as the Princess of Wales stood up in the Royal box smiling her acknowledgment of applause, while the Prince of Wales and Lord William Beresford pressed forward to lead the winner to the enclosure. Meanwhile, the little jockey, Jones, was taken to the Royal box and amid cheers from the crowd, received the personal congratulation of the Princess.

The derby stakes of 6,000 sovereigns, by subscription of fifty sovereigns each, half forfeit, for 500 sovereigns only if declared by the first Tuesday in January, 1899, for three-year-olds, the nominator of the winner to receive 500 sovereigns, the owner of the second 300 sovereigns, and the owner of the third 200 sovereigns out of the stakes. Distance about one mile and a half. The entries closed July 13, 1899. There were 362 subscribers.

Along the Epsom Road.

The scenes and incidents along the Epsom road on one derby day differ little from another derby day, but the introduction of Union jacks and banners inscribed "Johannesburg," in joyful recognition of Lord Roberts' entry into the Gold Reef city was a feature of the sporting holiday today.

On the Downs, portraits of the queen and the favorite generals were marked and distinctive features of today's jollification. Although the weather was not promising the exodus from London was hardly less remarkable than in previous years. The Epsom road was congested by every variety of vehicle while the trains had difficulty in carrying the throngs.

A large number of Americans patronized the coaches, including Captain Johnson, Mr. Walter Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Palmer, N. Y.; Kaylane of Pittsburg, T. H. McAuliffe and J. Atterbury of New York; E. H. Butler of the Buffalo (N. Y.) News; Miss Ada Butler and Miss Josephine Barber of Buffalo.

The Prince and Princess of Wales, the Duke and Duchess of York, the Duke and Duchess of Connaught, the Duke of Cambridge, Prince Christian of Schleswig-Holstein, went to Epsom by special train.

Ted Sloan, the American jockey, was also much congratulated on his excellent showing, and Mr. Kneed expressed to a representative of the Associated Press his satisfaction at winning a place. Incidentally the American contingent were heavy losers on the day.

WHEELMEN MET TERRIBLE DEATH

SPECTATORS WERE INJURED

Both Riders of the Machine Had Skulls Fractured in Presence of 20,000 People—Meet Held by Mass. Division L. A. W.

Waltham, Mass., May 30.—The race meet of the Massachusetts division of the L. A. W. at the Waltham bicycle track today was marred by a shocking accident, one rider being killed and others hurt. The accident occurred in the second mile in the four-cornered international motor paced race, the contestants being Everett D. Ryan of Waltham, Albert Champion of Paris, Archie McEachren of Toronto and William P. Stinson of Cambridge.

Horrible Death for Two.

In the first lap of the second mile, on the turn into the back stretch the four pacing machines were stretched across the track. Champion swerved into the grass and in avoiding him Harry E. Miles, 25 years of age, of Lynn, and William M. Stafford, 21, of Cambridge, who were riding the Stinson motor pacing tandem, were forced up the track and over the bank. Both men were thrown, Miles striking head first on an electric light pole, receiving a fractured skull. The top of his head was crushed in and as he was being removed to the training quarters his brains ran out upon the stretcher. He died a very few minutes after the accident. Stafford, who was riding behind Miles, was thrown bodily through the picket fence, his skull fractured, his nose broken and his false teeth forced down his throat. He was removed to Waltham hospital, where his death is expected at any moment.

The big motor tandem which they were riding was thrown over the fence upon the crowd that had been watching the race. It fell upon half a dozen [illegible] Shanghai and George Hill, both of Newton Falls, each had a leg broken and two other men and a woman were rendered unconscious.

The fatality in this race cast a gloom over the sport for the remainder of the afternoon. It was the principal number on the day's program and was being run off in fine style and in exceptionally quick time when the accident occurred.

Result of the Races.

The race was won by Archie McEachern, with Ryan second and Champion third. Time, 32:40 3-5.

The five-mile motor tandem handicap, professional, was won by Cook and Sheerer, Callahan and Champion second. Time, 6:58 4-5.

Jimmy Michael rode a five-mile motor paced exhibition in 8:59 1-5.

The attendance was over 20,000.

CALIFORNIA TRACK TEAM IN CHICAGO

Chicago, May 30.—The 12 members of the track team of the University of California arrived here last night and are quartered at the Lexington hotel. The members of the team are in excellent shape and anticipate carrying off a few of the honors in the western intercollegiate meet at Ravenswood Saturday. Plaw thinks he will be in shape to better his recent marks. The team will train at Marshall Field and Ravenswood, leaving for the Pacific coast immediately after the meet Saturday.

KNICKERBOCKER GAMES WERE HELD

New York, May 30.—The annual track and field games of the Knickerbocker Athletic club were held at the club's country home at Bayonne, N. J., today.

The flat and jumping races were arranged according to French measurement, for the benefit of any of the runners who may have intentions of going to Paris this summer to take part in the world's championship games, and the management made this part of the programme resemble, as nearly as possible, that of the programme of Paris.

All the performances of the running back were very creditable and in two instances French records were broken. In the 800 metres handicap, the record of which, 2:01, had been held by M. Bolhat of France, since 1886, H. P. Smith of Yale, chipped four-fifths of a second off the record.

John Bray of the New York Athletic club, beat the other French record 4 minutes, 10 and two-fifths seconds for 1,500 metres, by 1 and two-fifths seconds.

In the all round weight throwing competition John Flanagan made an actual throw of 159 feet, 10 inches in the 16-pound hammer competition, but in a practice throw he outdid all previous attempts at this style of weight throwing by slinging the missile 171 feet. The champion did not have to extend himself in the contest proper. His practice throw exceeds that of Plaw of California made in a similar manner last Monday, by six inches and Ray Ewry of the New York Athletic club came within a quarter of an inch of equalling the record of 34 feet, 8 inches on three standing jumps without weights.

COLORADO SPRINGS GAZETTE
Published Every Day in the Year
Sixty Cents a Month Seven Dollars a Year

The McKinley Portrait

THE GAZETTE has arranged with The Judge Company of New York City for exclusive rights for the State of Colorado for a magnificent portrait (size 14x21 inches) of President McKinley, reproduced in ten colors from a late photograph, for which the president specially sat at the request of the publishers It is now being printed for THE GAZETTE, on heavy plate-paper, in a form suitable for framing, by one of the largest art lithograph houses in America, in the famous French style of color-plate work Every Colorado family will want one of these handsome pictures of the president It must be remembered that this picture will be in no sense a cheap chromo but will be an example of the very highest style of illuminated printing It will be an ornament to any library or drawing-room

This magnificent portrait has the appearance of an oil painting, and is well worth the expense of framing for permanent place in home or office

It will be furnished to all regular subscribers to THE GAZETTE as a supplement with the issue of June 10th, free of extra cost Additional copies of this number of THE GAZETTE can be secured of all newsdealers at cost 10 cents a copy, including the portrait THE GAZETTE has the exclusive right to this portrait for the State of Colorado

THE ARKANSAS VALLEY.

THERE is no such wealth any place as in the Arkansas Valley of Colorado It is filled with farms mines oil wells orchards melon lands factories rolling mills steel plants commercial enterprises of all kinds thriving and growing cities and an industrious, intelligent and progressive people

Fitz Mac is preparing a series of articles on the Arkansas Valley, its resources industries and people The first will be on that largest and most progressive manufacturing city of the state Pueblo It will appear in an early issue of the Gazette

These articles will be of great value to the entire state and of equal value to the nation THE GAZETTE has a larger circulation in the eastern states and in Europe than all other Colorado daily papers combined

During the year Fitz-Mac will write articles about [illegible] circulation of the large regular edition of the Gazette [illegible]

Unbiased Gazette readers of prominence who know [illegible] will select some from the past and take a percentage of what the [illegible] a few biographical sketches as much a line and a few antiquated pictures of the place but they will be Gazette articles paid for by the Gazette management and written by one of the best writers in the west [illegible] a member of the Gazette staff They will be [illegible] in a historical way and from a material benefit to each community written about

THE SUMMER COTTAGE CONTEST.

MANY PRIZES have been given by newspapers but we do not now recall any house and lot having been offered by any newspaper in this country

The usual prizes are bicycles, encyclopedias, dictionaries etc [illegible] dollars

The prize offered by the Gazette is worth five thousand dollars in actual value and an insurable amount in points and grandeur of location in health giving air and inspiring mountain scenery

The prize [illegible] built completely furnished modern summer cottage on Broadmoor near Cheyenne Canon and just under the watchful sentinel eye of grand old Pikes Peak

It is one of the most [illegible] reached from the city by electric cars and used by the summer homes and close to the famous Broadmoor hotel and casino

This house is to be completely furnished, thanks to the enterprise of the firm of Fairley Bros [illegible]

Many other things will doubtless be added before the contest gets well under way as the business firms of Colorado Springs have no equal in the state for enterprise push and generosity and it will be strange if several other articles are not offered to make this the most complete summer cottage in Colorado

The other will be so very tempting that the harvest of matrimony will undoubtedly be larger than ever this summer

The title goes to the most popular young married couple in El Paso or Teller county The contest opens June 2d and only subscribers for the Gazette [illegible]

SENATOR SPOONER'S SPEECH.

PERHAPS the most remarkable speech delivered in the senate this session was that of Senator Spooner of Wisconsin last week on the Philippine question

Three day speeches are not overly popular either with the masses or in the senate but this one was comprehensive complete logical witty argumentative and filled with most attractive and apt illustration

It is the most complete argument yet made in support of the administration on the expansion question Senator [illegible] fact which the Peace protocol clearly proves that the Islands were obtained by conquest and not by purchase and with that as a basis demonstrated what our duty is to these islands and their inhabitants

Senator Spooner's speech is by long odds the best one yet delivered on this question and it will probably be the one most used in the coming campaign

This speech has put Senator Spooner far to the front as one of the leading debaters [illegible] powerful and effective were his arguments that the senators almost universally laid the closest attention during the entire time he was speaking and from the nature of the questions asked and the answers given it would appear surprising if he made several converts to the theory of expansion

The senate seems to be turning to a [illegible] of thorough and masterly discussion of all great public questions instead of following the example of the house in settling everything in committee and applying the five minute rule to debates in [illegible] however important they may be

To all who desire light upon the Philippine question we commend Senator Spooner's speech which can be found in full in the Congressional Record for Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of last week.

CONGRESSIONAL HONORS.

THE FOLLOWING appeared in last week's issue of that able and decent Democratic journal, the Denver Democrat

Rumor has it that Brother I N Stevens of the Colorado Gazette will not refuse a congressional [illegible] if it is presented him on a unanimous platter and with the proper garnishings

Some other state papers have recently contained similar notices

[illegible] the district is an honor well worth the ambition of any man and nothing of [illegible] incumbency of the office [illegible] distinguished man who has filled the office for the past four terms Neither do we believe in mock modesty in the matter of seeking public office The curse of our political life is that often in the past a band of cowards and sneaks who have not had courage to openly enter the contest for office not the brains to have or express any conviction upon great public questions have drifted into office [illegible] beautifully neutral and were supported to be acceptable to the people chiefly because no one ever heard of them before

We are not in favor of that kind of a candidate for any office In these progressive times, with new issues arising every week with our country reaching out into both oceans in its world extending influence, in the general advancement of thought action and national life the time is certainly at an end when a neutral — which is only another name for coward — should hold any public position from constable up

The [illegible] thing about Colonel Thomas candidacy for the senate is that he is an open and avowed candidate upon a definite and specific platform

But as to the congressional matter Of course, the above and other similar articles are only good-natured and friendly gossip and have no deeper significance but it is always just as well to be frank about these political matters and especially if anyone might possibly be misled by such newspaper squibs is the one quoted —

The garnishings cannot be made rich enough, nor the platter large enough nor the nomination unanimous enough to induce the editor of the Gazette to accept that or any other nomination or office of any kind or character We have some other and better work mapped out for the next five years and could not if we would accept a political office

It may be a delusion and a snare but we have the notion that services in the state in the line started might possibly be of greater benefit to the state and its people than any amount of political service Then, too, we feel that the public could not suffer from such a conclusion as there is always a large number of worthy men willing to sacrifice themselves to serve the people in the way of holding public office and probably not so many in this particular line of service which we have chosen to the exclusion of the other

We make these statements in all seriousness and frankness for if we wanted this or any other public office we would say so and in a manner which could not be misunderstood

No person seeks a public office under cover who is fit to hold it

We ask the indulgence of our readers for so much personal matter but it had to be gone over some time as ever since the recent editor of the Gazette assumed control there has been no end of speculation as to the particular office he wanted notwithstanding the fact which every person knows that editors can probably never get any public office if they do their duty by their readers in the discussion of public measures and women or public men

In any event, there are other fields than that of drawing salary from the public office of doing good in the world and of rendering really valuable services to a community and perhaps not the least or most unimportant is in the [illegible] to make their homes amidst the delightful surroundings of Colorado life, to give the daily news in an attractive and clean form as possible to help in the work of investment to aid in the building of city and [illegible] and complete and artistic and [illegible] to discuss and pass upon some in every possible way to discuss and pass upon great public questions at a public meeting with an interest in a public question [illegible] to be influenced in the slightest degree by the findings of [illegible] some ambitious candidate for public office

[illegible] are of our limited means we propose to work in it with our own hands [illegible] holding his position

It is a amusing to read in the Denver Democrat [illegible] of those six hours daily filled with [illegible] Democratic city council [illegible] the tramway company [illegible] grant of some new and extraordinary franchise The Democrats ought to be Democrats this fall by [illegible] being hoodlums in the [illegible]

[illegible] no little city council session in Denver went into [illegible]

The tramway [illegible] franchise every week and [illegible] the city officials are fully compensated [illegible] Democrat [illegible] to make the [illegible] raise the price of their votes

The city authorities should turn their attention to Denver water question and make some provision for larger and better supply [illegible] that is no excuse why the people should not be supplied in the use of water for domestic or sprinkling purposes This is certainly [illegible] any possible water famine

Colonel Thomas [illegible] must have a mascot around some place

His own overcoat in which he bought the 4th of last March was stolen but was found under a sour apple tree lost [illegible] and on one of the limbs of the same tree It [illegible] to look as if his was a genuine Malvern coat

The Denver News is flaming headlines announces that The Democrats expect to carry New York Yes the Republicans also expect to carry Texas but not this year the Democratic majority in Texas will not be half the size of the Republican majority in New York in this year of our Lord 1900

Memorial Day was splendidly observed all over Colorado yesterday This does not lessen the [illegible] the [illegible] to the heroes of the Civil war whether living or dead

SIGNS OF PROSPERITY AHEAD

[illegible]

A correspondent of the New York Evening Post goes in for [illegible] the effect that [illegible] in this city from the manufacturing ups and downs of the past A period of prosperity he says begins with an advance in stocks and iron follows an increase in loans in railroad [illegible] and an increase in the population of new towns and cities by immigration the general business and real estate speculation The writer asserts that the growth of the United States [illegible] will be omen producer and opens a fresh market for the sale of manufactured articles The outlook for the sale of manufactured articles The outlook for iron and coal has never been surpassed Coal is in increasing supply and the low grade coal deposits in this country are inexhaustible while [illegible] are constantly improved Nor is this prophet disturbed in the least because this is a presidential year He looks for a [illegible] of business until about 1904 which is long enough to allow the business world to get into excellent shape to meet whatever the next so-called cycle may bring forth

Notions about cycles often mislead the judgement but there is a fact adopted by the writer referred to is undoubtedly correct in the main But it is essential not to let go from the subject of good government still running after the alleged laws of [illegible] Artificially [illegible] English reformatory measures [illegible] the laws of values would turn the [illegible] promising cycle into a period of loss doubt and industrial paralysis One of the worst features of the Chicago platform which it is said will be reaffirmed, is its avowed purpose to trip up everything generally from the [illegible] to the supreme court It is the programme of destructives and business extremists [illegible] to ten times of that nature The best indication of a long era of prosperity is the belief of the people that the men who made the Chicago platform and who are its champions for the second trial will never be given the helm of authority in this great and enlightened nation

FITZ-MAC ON WOLCOTT.

From a Colorado Springs Correspondent.

May 30th 1900

To the Editor of the Gazette

I do not quite agree with J H C on the Wolcott article by Fitz-Mac and I think it would have been much more effective to have told something of Wolcott's record in the senate He received little enough credit from the people of the state and he has rendered such good service that a recital of the services would have been very appropriate in the article about him

He has got more public buildings and larger appropriations for them than any man ever had in the Senate He got the law enacted which provides for the coinage of the seigniorage in the U S treasury and thus put into circulation many millions more dollars in silver and helped that much to brace up the price of silver While Teller has contented himself with talking for silver Wolcott got this legislation enacted which is the only silver legislation we have had for ten years To him more than to any one else do we owe the splendid main lagoon in Colorado and he advocated the free rural delivery system In fact during the time he has been chairman of the post office committee on post roads he has rendered invaluable service, not alone to the people of Colorado but to those of the entire country We never had a senator who stood so high in the east or one who accomplished so much for his constituents. I have not always approved of his political course but he is so far ahead of any person mentioned to succeed him that I think it would be a calamity to the state to have him turned down for one of his little competitors Fitz-Mac was brilliant but I wish he had been a little more specific One point he made clear enough and that is that Wolcott is big in all public matters

Fitz Mac's articles and the sketches by Phonolite are interesting and are serving a good purpose in informing the people about the candidates for the highest honor in the state.

MEMORIAL DAY

By HARRY B. FEDROW.

WRITTEN FOR THE GAZETTE.

(This article [illegible] in the [illegible] but we [illegible] it today for it is so excellent as to be worth reading at any time —Ed.)

Breathe balms ye fragrant flowers
O'er every silent sleeper's head
Ye crystal dews and summer showers
Dress in fresh green each lowly bed

Strew joying on his way o'e the brave,
Their country's [illegible] tribute pride
For us their precious lives they gave
For Freedom's sacred cause they died

Long where on glory's high they fell—
May Freedom's spotless banner wave
Where lies the free where sleep the brave

IN THE year 1849 17,000 members of the G A R died The number is appalling It is almost equal to the number of Union men killed and wounded at Gettysburg It is more than the aggregate of Union men killed wounded and missing of any one engagement of the civil war except Gettysburg Spottsylvania the Wild Ness and Chancellorsville The organization which has called itself the grand army will soon have its ranks transferred to the eternal camping ground beyond the stars In a short time the last veteran will have passed into the shadows of the [illegible] year has told no more by those who fought it When that day comes and the roll call of [illegible] of 1776 are now dimly viewed the G A R will be remembered as the saviors of Memorial Day

The beautiful idea of decorating soldiers graves originated with some southern women who are now forgotten but it was General John A Logan who set the date and firmly established the custom In all indications he [illegible] who

[illegible] grow dull and other hands [illegible] the solemn trust ours shall [illegible] the wreath of life remain to us Let us [illegible] at the time appointed [illegible] around their sacred mounds and [illegible] the precious mounds at [illegible] the dear old flag they saved from dishonor

The possibilities suggested by General Logan have not been [illegible] Will the men themselves have been dropping away by thousands the question [illegible] who [illegible] has been growing in importance Each state now has its day of the year apart for the decoration of soldiers graves which [illegible] in every case is May 30 It is not [illegible] who take part in the [illegible] Memorial Day [illegible] one it was an occasion [illegible] veteran went in his [illegible] place of honor on [illegible] Now it is a time when the comrade [illegible] soldier [illegible]

And truly no nation has ever owed [illegible] to performed each year in [illegible] of men who fought the battle of the greatest republic the world has ever [illegible] And they have [illegible]

[illegible] mercenary has ever [illegible] the Stars and Stripes but each time the sacred [illegible] has come but [illegible] hands of those [illegible] United States has never [illegible] have been volunteers They have [illegible] fertile New [illegible] pasture They have been men and boys who went straight from the farm the workshop the office and the store into all the strange and horrible vicissitudes of war They instantly adapted themselves to the novel life fought with all the vigor of trained veterans [illegible] the flag was furled those who survived went back and took up the threads of civil life where they had left off as they had been good soldiers they have lived the remainder of their days good citizens This is not alone true which the United States has ever engaged

A call for volunteers in our country means and always has meant [illegible] the country It has always been answered by those sober earnest boys who took the making of good soldiers and good citizens and good fathers [illegible] been many but overtopping all with [illegible] crowning sorrow is the loss by death or crippling of a million able [illegible] tion We have strewn our best to [illegible] graves If blood be the price of [illegible] mirality Lord God we have paid in full David Starr Jordan has attributed many of our present woes to the lack of [illegible] those who died in the civil war The sons who never were [illegible] might have been

Tramps do not go to war Neither do criminals cranks nor cads It takes character to make good volunteers [illegible] blue uniforms and the letters [illegible] are labels of integrity The United States wars have slaughtered [illegible] After the bullets spent their fatal force the survivors fewer good men took up the pursuits of the farm Possibly the [illegible] with a young person to work the farm rose but the pride and hope was far more [illegible] shall [illegible] battlefield in lonely heaps have been [illegible] which [illegible] will not afford to lose From the tented hospital wards pine boxes have been carried containing mortal remains which stately mechanics thrifty merchants [illegible] professional men and thinking statesmen could and should have been made The world never saw a finer quality of soldiers than our wars have brought out this fact has been sung and written and sung time and again, but a beautiful truth will bear repeating An American can stand more abuse, fight harder when he finally begins to fight and shake quicker and longer than any other man on earth

This year finds fresh mounds of earth beneath which sleep heroes of another war The Spanish American conflict has fastened a further debt of gratitude upon the nation which we can try to pay by scattering flowers upon the newly made soldier graves that dot our cemeteries

Four hundred thousand men
Who brave the good the true
In tangled wood in mountain glen
On battle plain in prison pen
Long dead for me and you
Four hundred thousand of the brave
We made our ransomed soil their grave
For me and you Kind fate ordained
For me and you

Honor's voice cannot provoke the silent dust nor flattery soothe the dull cold ear of death We have done little when we have made our annual journey to the city of the dead and visited the lowly houses whereon it is useless to strew flowers We place flowers upon the graves to show we have not forgotten that is all we can do for the dead But the living deserve our reverence and [illegible] have passed away and we are powerless to do anything but lay a few fleeting garlands above them

War is an awful thing There is no excuse for it The good effects which have been accomplished by means of it will almost invariably have been brought about better and certainly with less loss by peaceful methods It is in vain flatters that we revere the memory of our soldier dead It is an [illegible] and sense of entirely misguiding [illegible] who [illegible] fields presented no [illegible] make the wars If they could have prevented them they would have done so But civilization which has advanced so far in many things still [illegible] to invoke the dreadful agency of war to get certain results

No easy and happier way having [illegible] the sword was used to settle troublesome questions When the weapon was unsheathed the volunteer obeyed He was ready to perform his duty always, although it was the hardest to decapitate he killed The highest it all he was merciful and generous He starved he suffered he died Throughout it all he was brave

At the battle of Saratoga General Morgan saw that France was the south British army Turning his leading officers he said That gallant officer is General Fraser I admire and honor him but he must die Stand among those bushes and [illegible] minutes Fraser fell mortally wounded During the assault [illegible] Colonel Fraser [illegible] fell [illegible] with two of his brave followers inside the Union fortification The man who slew him [illegible] faults buried him and [illegible]

Marion who was subsisting solely upon [illegible] potatoes invited a British officer to dine with him The officer was so affected by the sacrifice of the American [illegible] mission and went home [illegible] at Chattanooga to hold fast Thomas answered I will stay till I starve Grant and Lee parted at Appomattox with words of sympathy After the surrender had taken place the latter told Grant that many of soldiers rode their own horses Grant immediately answered that such should keep their horses [illegible] at home Admiral Cervera was overcome by the kind treatment of his captors and wept

We should honor the living soldier There are sometimes complaints that the oft repeated stories of battle and [illegible] wearisome Let the veteran talk If the children have grown tired of listening the grandchildren have not It is the tales we hear before we are ten that we never forget Nothing impresses so deeply as the words of one who can say [illegible] narrative part of this I was all of this I saw

War is a great educator Men who leave their homes travel to distant lands see strange sights become acquainted with new people and live for a time under different conditions return with a rich experience and a broader mind Whether his term of service has been in twenty battles or none the man who has been in the arms has had his whole life affected by it There is something in a military experience that stamps itself indelibly upon character Forge it he cannot It always crops out It has been said of the late Moses Field that he never preached a sermon or made an address in which his military life did not disclose itself in one way or another The old soldier cannot forget that which has colored his whole existence

Decoration Day is a sad time for a veteran If he [illegible] number of little flags fluttering from new mounds of earth He knows that next year maybe [illegible] will have joined [illegible] the [illegible] for whom the veteran gives much to smooth the little path [illegible] marks of his pathway to the grave A kind word a [illegible] How little that costs We can refrain from [illegible] talk games Sundays [illegible] receptions [illegible] what those men fought for

Because we may not have been called upon to do [illegible] duties It was not [illegible] lot to fight in the great battles of his country but he consoled himself with the verse of his favorite song

If you cannot in the conflict
Be a courtly soldier true
If where fire and smoke are thickest
There is no work for you to do,
[illegible] broken hearted
Stay then those with courage fled
[illegible] bear away the wounded
You can cover up the dead.

Glockner Sanatarium Property to be Sold

One of the most important and what is likely to be one of the most far reaching real estate transactions that has taken place in the city for a long time is about to be closed.

The Glockner Sanitarium real estate and buildings, is about to be sold from the Sisters of Charity of America, whose headquarters is in Cincinnati, to Colorado Springs parties represented by Mr. E. S. Kelley, who has engineered the deal. The sale will be followed by improvements amounting to $100,000.

The exact consideration involved in the transaction is not stated but is understood to be about $50,000, which is regarded by local real estate men as an exceedingly reasonable figure for the property.

Contains a Full Block.

The site of the sanitarium contains a full block of ground, 32 lots of 25 feet each, and is improved by a building erected several years ago for the particular purpose to which it has been put. The building is in the shape of a "Y" and thus gets and holds more of the balmy rays of the Colorado sun than would be caught by an ordinary building.

The building is completely furnished throughout, having linoleum upon the floors in accordance with the health regulations, iron bedsteads in each room, some of them with handsome brass finishes, and is equipped fully for the maintenance of a first-class institution of its kind.

The grounds are improved with a lively kept lawn, one of the most beautiful in the entire city and the 250 trees which were set out several years ago and are now growing nicely will in a few years make of it a most beautiful hospital site.

Will Enlarge the Institution.

It is not merely for the operation of the present institution, however, that the local parties who have interested themselves in it have been induced to put in their money. They have decided that Colorado Springs can maintain the finest sanitarium in the west, an institution finer than anything that now exists west of Chicago, and it is such an institution that they propose to build.

They will erect a new building on the unoccupied portion of the Glockner grounds at a cost of $100,000, the new building to be thoroughly modern in every particular and equipped with every convenience known to medical and surgical skill at the present day.

The institution will not be charitable in its character but will cater to the wealthy class of people. The parties interested have investigated the matter and find that there is no institution in any climate especially adapted for pulmonary diseases that is filling the place the new Glockner will be expected to fill.

The deal for the sale of the Glockner has been pending for some time but it will be closed up within a few days and the preparations for the erection of the new institution will be taken up at once.

Maryland Democrats Not Solid for Bryan

The coming state convention in Maryland at which delegates will be selected to the Democratic national convention at Kansas City will be the battle ground of the adherents of Bryanism and Howlerism. Senator Gorman, Governor Lowndes, Blaskie, of Meekin and Barr, iron founders and bridge builders, who is from Maryland, thinks this convention but one of half a dozen or more that will send a divided delegation.

"When I left Baltimore last Tuesday it seemed to be a foregone conclusion that Gorman would capture the convention on June 5," he said at the Alamo last night. "I did not believe it, and if I can be the judge, you may count on Bryan getting votes as many votes against it to 1 [illegible] we will have for [illegible] in a strong political and during the present session of congress began, he accomplished a great deal toward strengthening the already strong sentiment in favor of sound money principles to be carried to the national convention. Senator Gorman is a man who does not know what it is to give in, and he is confident that the state convention will send a delegation to Kansas City instructed for international bimetallism or a continuance of our present policy. [illegible] that will prove a hard barrier to conquer and may hold, but Bryanism has but little hold in the Democratic party of Maryland.

"It looks to me as though there will be two Democratic tickets in the field this fall. Who the candidates of the sound money men will be is a matter of conjecture, but the eastern Democrats will not countenance the fallacies of their party as they exist today. I think New York, Pennsylvania, Massachusetts and Illinois will join Maryland in the endeavor to [illegible] the Kansas City convention.

Mr. Blaskie has lived in Baltimore for thirty-three years and is on his first trip to the Rockies, with which he is delighted.

Thinks He Better Return to First Love

The rapid growth of Colorado Springs during the last few years and the invariable outlook for the future, has attracted no more interest from any one than Mr. Bussey of San Diego, Cal., who is now here contemplating a removal back to this state after a non-residence of nine years. Mr. Bussey [illegible] property in this city and went to California with Hoyt Stevens nine years ago, where he has since been unfortunate enough to possess a large lemon grove.

"I will be here all summer," he said at the Alta Vista last night, "and may be here permanently. When one looks around permanently. When one looks at the resources of Colorado of today and compares them with those of other states, it is little wonder that the people flock to the place. I have been raising lemons in California but am thinking of today that I have sold my interests. For three years we managed to barely keep the trees alive by irrigating with water that cost 8 cents a thousand gallons or $80 per inch perpetual flow when they have it. Through the season. The Santa Fe and Southern Pacific railroads are working in perfect harmony and when a man gets a good crop they fix the freight rates so that there is no profit for him.

"Within 30 miles of San Diego, irrigation has helped us a good deal, but about all Southern California has is the climate. When I see the broad rich fields and orchards of Colorado, building with an abundance of water at hand, and note the growth of the cities and towns, I wonder what ever made me leave here. Particularly has Colorado Springs shown that there is no boom nor inflated advertisement behind her growth. The city seems like a struggle [illegible] for three years which is my case—there is a different air about it, and the new and substantial building that spreads out over a vast area denotes only the highest confidence in the future."

Mr. Bussey is accompanied by his son, J. N. Bussey.

Decoration Day in Police Court

There were twenty cases in police court yesterday morning and Judge Owen celebrated Decoration Day by trying to get rid of the docket. Late Tuesday night the night captain decided that since the next day was to be a holiday there would probably be some good work to be done in the rail road yards. He accordingly detailed Officers Hughes, Hatler, Gaines and Houghton as a committee of investigation.

The first car that the officers struck contained eight members of the weary fraternity. The second held seven more and by that time the officers decided that they had about all they could handle in one bunch. They returned to headquarters with the assorted crew at once. When searched not one of the men had a cent of money. Kercval asked the captain for some tobacco. The squad were not permitted to go out again as the captain realized what would be required of them the next day and wanted the men to have as much rest as possible. When the prisoners were arraigned yesterday morning a big fine was assessed against each and they were given an hour to leave the city.

There were fines of all kinds assessed in the session of police court yesterday morning. The largest was presented to Hugh Casey, who is fast becoming an old offender. He got $75 and costs and was committed. The lowest was placed against the name of Jim Mahon, a plain drunk who had not been before the judge before. He was given $2 and costs, which he paid and was allowed to go. Jim McGovern was arrested late Tuesday night and a charge of drunkenness placed against him. He was given a good day to the tune of $50 and costs. Unable to satisfy the judgment he was committed.

Ed Burton was locked up yesterday and charged with larceny. It is alleged by the department that he was connected with the theft of a watch. Burton runs a "shine establishment" in Barnes' alley.

Button-hole Interviews

"This being foreman of a jury is a snap," said a man yesterday who was foreman of a jury in the county court the other day. "I was foreman of a jury yesterday that granted a divorce in the county court and we did it up in great shape. We heard the evidence and gave the verdict in accordance with the instructions of the court, and I was away from my place of business only fifteen minutes.

"Now, if anyone can beat me at being foreman of a jury he can have the job.

"Yes, Decoration Day comes but once a year, but it can tell you the day means a great deal of hard work for us. Thus did Captain McNew relieve his feelings in the quiet of police headquarters last night.

"The night men worked all night last night, all day today and they will be on duty all night tonight. This means thirty-six hours in a stretch with little or no sleep. But you will not find one of those boys kicking tonight, in spite of the fact that they are almost dead for sleep.

"In the parade this morning we had ten men in the marching squad. In the Junior's parade this afternoon we had seven men. Besides these we had a number of men at the base ball game and at the races.

"Oh yes, holidays are good things, and Decoration Day is one that is particularly sacred to the American people, but it means sore muscles and stiff joints for the men on the police force the next day."

Mr. T. J. Vidler of Idaho Springs, a brother of Sam Vidler of Cripple Creek, was a visitor in the city yesterday and was an interested spectator at the cricket match.

William E. Sweet of Denver, and Miss Fullerton of Philadelphia, arrived last night to participate in the Stevens family reunion of four generations at the Alta Vista this week.

Mrs. Edwin A. Landell, wife of a prominent railway man and banker of Philadelphia, has arrived in Colorado Springs to make a visit of a few weeks with her daughter, Mrs. W. E. Freeman.

Hon. Earl [illegible], proprietor of the Denver Times, was at the Alamo yesterday. While here he consulted delegates and alternates to the Philadelphia convention about the pilgrimage intending to fill his own position of [illegible].

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Russell Kray, who have decided to return to Colorado Springs to live, will arrive in the city on Saturday and take up their residence at once in their home at 23 West Cache la Poudre street.

JUNIORS DEDICATE NEW SCHOOL HOUSE

The dedication of the new school house on the Cañon road was one of the most interesting of the Decoration Day events. There were about two hundred people in attendance besides the members of the Jr. O. U. A. M., and escort of specially uniformed police.

Councilor W. J. McAllister, of the local council, was master of ceremonies and in the carrying out of the beautiful ritual of the order. A number of good speeches were made, chief among which were those of Prof. Dietrich, superintendent of the city schools and J. P. Madden. The general tenor of the speeches were in praise of the modern school system and of the work that the Junior order is doing for the betterment of the conditions in the common school system. One of the vital principals of the order is the upholding of non-sectarianism in the public schools.

An interesting part of the programme was the recitations which were rendered by the members of the Cheyenne school. Their singing was also much appreciated by the audience.

IS TRAVELING AUDITOR OF PACIFIC EXPRESS

Mr. W. G. Rice, who for the past 12 years has been the local agent of the United States Express company, and who yesterday surrendered that position to another man, has accepted a much better position with the Pacific Express company as traveling auditor, with headquarters in Colorado Springs.

The Pacific express company's business in this city has also been in the hands of Mr. Rice for several years, it being handled in connection with the United States. The many friends of Mr. Rice in this city consider it a fitting compliment to the faithfulness and untiring industry of Mr. Rice that he should have been tendered the position by the Pacific Express company as soon as that company heard that he was to leave the United States company.

PRIZE DRILL TEAM GAVE EXHIBITIONS

The prize drill team of the Modern Woodmen of America which was in the city yesterday and which gave two exhibition drills on the streets here, is considered the best team of its kind in the United States. They came here on the morning train from Denver, where they presented the state flag to Phoenix camp No. 7269. The ceremony [illegible] that night and conducted in Denver on Tuesday night, Governor Thomas received the team on behalf of that city.

The team was met at the station by a delegation from the local camp of Woodmen. They were conducted to Pike's Peak avenue, where they gave the first drill. They were then taken to the Alamo hotel where they were guests of the local camp. The afternoon was spent in visiting Manitou and the Canon. A second drill was given in the afternoon before the Alamo hotel. They were accompanied by the Midland band. They left at 5 o'clock for Kansas City.

OBSERVANCE OF DECORATION DAY

Splendid Turnout of Veterans in the Parade.

THE BLUE AND THE GRAY

Veterans of Both Sides in the Sixties and of the Spanish War Marched to "Yankee Doodle," "Dixie" and "A Hot Time."

The brightest of the bright features of the Memorial day parade yesterday was the big turn out of the war veterans. There has never been a time in the history of Colorado Springs that the day has been celebrated in the manner that characterized it yesterday. A very few of the veterans were in carriages, but every one for whom walking was at all possible, took his place in the line and marched with the comrades of years gone by. Some tottered a little as they walked, but one of these voiced the sentiment of all when he said that he had been marching on Decoration day celebrations for many years and that he intended to do so as long as it is possible for him to put one foot before the other.

The Blue and the Gray.

Another pleasing feature of the parade was the mingling of the veterans who wore the blue with those who were the gray. Proudly and lovingly they marched together and side by side. The brave veteran, who in '61 marched under the Stars and Stripes was proud yesterday to touch elbows with the equally brave veteran, who marched beneath the folds of the Stars and Bars. Together they decked the graves in the cemetery with the loving remembrances of gallant deeds.

There were more flags in the parade before. Every order had its flag. The line of march seemed draped with the red, white and blue. The Midland band, in Indian uniforms led the parade. No band of music ever played more stirringly the national airs than did the Midland under the leadership of Mr. Irvine.

The Formation.

Marshal of the Day [illegible] and the parade started a little before 10 o'clock. He was preceded by officers Hughes and Thomas, mounted police, and a platoon of police consisting of Officers Falk, Shelby, Knapp, Gaines, Dutton and Schmidt, led by Chief of Police Henry and Captain McNew. Marshal Dana and his aides were followed by company D, C. N. G., in full uniform, in command of Captain Davis. They were followed by the High school cadet battalion commanded by Major Riddle and Captains Ady and Gardner. The cadets in their summer uniforms made a splendid appearance in the parade and their marching would have done credit to veterans. They came the volunteers of the Spanish war—the men who had seen over a year's service in the Philippines. The veterans [illegible] but proud of company M., and they had cause than ever yesterday. The boys have not forgotten the step and they swung along yesterday as though on dress parade. Captain Clyde Spicer was in command of the "M" boys. Canton Colfax No. 3, I. O. O. F. and the uniform rank of the Knights of Pythias completed the first division.

The second division was made up of the Juniors, Woodmen and A. O. U. W. The third division was headed by the mayor and city officials in carriages. They were followed by the [illegible] department. The fourth division with the G. A. R. and W. R. C. closed the parade.

The Colorado and Southern train was taken when the parade reached the Monroe avenue crossing on Tejon street, for Evergreen. There were about 800 tickets sold for the cemetery. Beside these there were quite a number who went to the cemetery in carriages, on bicycles and on horseback. The decorations on some of the graves were unique and very elaborate.

Major Henry McAllister made a speech in behalf of the veterans at the cemetery. The speech was short but touching in its simplicity and earnestness.

A Shetland Pony Livery.

H. T. O'Brien will open a Shetland pony livery and riding school at Iowa wild near the car line.

Mr. O'Brien will have an instructor to teach children to ride and drive. This is the only Shetland pony school and livery west of Chicago, and will no doubt prove a great success.

After the close of the conservatory on June 1st Mr. Goldmark will receive private pupils in piano and theory in his studio, 1121 Wood avenue.

MANY DENVER VISITORS.

Dinner Parties Were Numerous Orchestra Was a Realization of all that Could Be Hoped for—The Dancers Made Merry.

The initial night at beautiful Broadmoor was certainly a most propitious, for perfect weather enabled hundreds to visit the popular resort and every one was full of enjoyment. The only drawback was the fact that the Transit company was overtaxed in handling so large a number of people.

But the crowds were thoroughly good natured and made the best of it.

Above the old Rockies shone the crescent moon and evening star, but, far exceeding them in brilliancy were the myriads of incandescent lamps which are so lavishly used in the embellishment of the attractive Casino.

The lawns resemble a rich green, velvet carpet broaded in flowers of richest hues, for the abundant rains have brought them to a high state of perfection for this time of the year. Within, all is in gala trim and the handsome apartments are models of comfort and convenience. Broadmoor is certainly an ideal resort and already Mr. Tunnell has a number of guests. Among those dining there last evening were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rogers of Denver, Mr. and Mrs. E. Barnett, Mr. and Mrs. Duncan Chisholm, Miss Kelly, Donna Manuelita Chaves.

One of the main attractions is the Broadmoor Symphony Orchestra and well did it fulfill expectations in its superb rendition of last evening's programme.

The "Inauguration March" by Thiel introduced some patriotic selections and was greeted with applause. The "Serenade," the second number, was perhaps the gem of the evening. Yet every number was most enjoyable.

The full programme preceding the dancing was as follows:

"Inauguration March" ..... Thiel
"Serenade" (selection) ..... Herbert
"Tone Pictures of the North and South" ..... Bendix
Overture, "Orpheus" ..... Offenbach

Hundreds were in attendance, including not only the well known citizens and their families, but many distinguished visitors from all parts of the union.

One party included guests at camp Harding, Mrs. Joseph Milner of Denver, Mrs. N. H. Allen, Mrs. Helen Preston, Mrs. Harding, Mr. and Mrs. Blake, the Misses Blake, Another, Mrs. Elizabeth Milstead of Washington, D. C.; Mrs. W. L. Keep of Boston, Mass.; Mrs. N. M. Gilbert of Tiffin, O.

Programme for Today.

This evening at the Casino there is to be dancing again. The band will give a concert this afternoon from [illegible] will be given. The first evening concert will be given until Friday night. The orchestra demonstrated last evening that it is capable of the best class of music.

The programme this afternoon is as follows:

PART I.
March, Buffalo News ..... Lamp
Overture, Die Irrfahrt ums Glück, Suppe
Sextette, from Lucia di Lammermoor ..... Donzetti
Selection, The Fortune Teller ..... Herbert
PART II.

NEW HAVEN LEASE SOLD

For a Cash Consideration of $7,000--Little Cut Diamond Property to Be Developed.

Special to the Gazette.

Cripple Creek, May 30.—Decoration day did not cause any perceptible letting up in the mining, but it was no-

District the force had been materially reduced, and the offices had been practically abandoned. Miners are patriotic people and all of them who could placed flowers on not only old soldiers' graves but upon the graves of their companions, for some of the boys who delve underground say that their occupation is even more dangerous than the duties of the men who were engaged in the late trouble with Spain.

The lease on the New Haven company's ground which has been operated by Parkinson and others, has been sold to H. A. Wright for a cash consideration of $7,000. There is a good body of ore showing in the property and it is quite likely that the man who purchased the mine may make a handsome sum out of his buy.

Mr. Joseph Ryan today let a contract to Jake Keir for an additional 50 foot of crosscutting on the Hayden at the Lasca Co. property, south of the Homestaker. The crosscutting is being done 120 feet from surface.

Work will be started on Monday next on the North Slope claim of the Little Cut Diamond Co. This property adjoins the Gold Knob and Gold Field estate. For the last two years the Little Cut Diamond Co. has been at law and that too in the highest court in the land, but now it is claimed all litigation is at an end and the officers of the company propose to develop the 11 acres of ground to which they now think they have perfect title.

The Damon workings are now being unwatered by the Consolidated Gold Mines Co., which means the Woods pe-controlled perceptibly for 24 hours, but now, with a bucket that carries 120 gallons and upwards emptied every minute during the 24 hours, headway is at last being made.

President and Manager F. W. Keep of the Spring Creek Deep Mining and Development Co. is in town preparing to let a contract for extending his tunnel an additional 5,000 feet. He has made contracts within the last few days with the owners of property whose ground he crosses for drainage and for the transportation of waste and ore. The tunnel is on the north slope of Tenderfoot Hill and its course is about east. If the bore is continued as proposed it will be watched with more than general interest.

John Barbie, who is leasing on the Columbia on Beacon hill, will tomorrow make a shipment of about 12 tons of presumably $70 ore. This comes from a 28-inch streak in a stope at the 300 foot level. It is believed that the main El Paso vein has at last been encountered and for the good reason that here a strong draft is found. Drifting on the vein will start in the morning.

A plant of machinery is now in place on the Little Maggie that lies on the south end of the Independence and Jefferson properties at Victor. The intention is to deepen the shaft 100 feet and then to crosscut the property. Manager Ben Swisher has simple funds at his command to prosecute the work.

NO BOB LEE STRIKE

An Officer of the Company Has Made an Examination of the Property and Says There Is no Ore in Sight.

An officer of the Bob Lee company, who has just returned from Cripple Creek, states that there has been no strike made on the property and that the shaft in which the strike was reported to have been made is not being worked at present.

It is supposed that the report of the strike was circulated in order to job the stock, the officers of the company giving that out as their explanation of the activity and strength of the stock.

Lessees Russell and Baller are now trenching on the Bob Lee claim, but have not obtained any lead whatever. It was when the officer visited the property in order to learn the details of the strike which was reported, he was not successful in finding a trace of ore.

A good strike was made in the shaft [illegible] and it was reported that the ore body had increased in size but it seems that the ore which was found was a mere pocket, and that a round of shots cleared the shaft as clean of pay ore as it was before the strike was made, and none has been opened at a greater depth.

The lease was granted last October and a shaft was started soon after. [illegible] feet, but it is not being worked at present, the lessees devoting all their time to trenching on a dyke which crosses the claim, thinking that the [illegible] than in the shaft.

The officers of the company are desirous that the entire truth of the matter be known. They were approached by a representative of the Gazette as soon as the strike was reported, and they said that there was nothing of the strike, and would sanction no report of one, and in fact would not give out no information for publication until a personal examination of the property had been made.

MINING NOTES AROUND TOWN

The Nellie A. company, working with the De La Vergne lease, has begun the construction of a shaft house on its property on Squaw mountain, and when this is ready a 20-horse power electric hoist will be installed by the Colorado Electric company. The stock advanced to 12 cents on the last call on 'change, and inquiry of an officer of the company [illegible] strength. Owing to illness Mr. De La Vergne was unable to purchase work on the property as it had been agreed, but the company consented to allow him to be interested in the lease in consideration of [illegible]

new management was completed a couple of weeks ago. A fine plant of machinery will be installed at once and arrangements made to work the main vein. Lessees are now working in a stope shaft on the other end of the property and have had very good showings, and some work is also being done in the Columbine Victor tunnel, which will crosscut the property at the depth of 700 feet.

TO LOCATE THE JACK POT APEX.

An important piece of work was started yesterday on the Doctor mine in the Gold Coin district. The Jack Pot apex is the richest bone of contention which two mining companies have fought for in Cripple Creek, at least, and that too in the highest court in the land, but now it is claimed all litigation is at an end and the officers of the company propose to develop the 11 acres of ground to which they now think they have perfect title.

The Damon workings are now being unwatered by the Consolidated Gold Mines Co., which means the Woods people controlled perceptibly for 24 hours, but now, with a bucket that carries 120 gallons and upwards emptied every minute during the 24 hours, headway is at last being made.

President and Manager F. W. Keep of the Spring Creek Deep Mining and Development Co. is in town preparing to let a contract for extending his tunnel an additional 5,000 feet. He has made contracts within the last few days with the owners of property whose ground he crosses for drainage and for the transportation of waste and ore. The tunnel is on the north slope of Tenderfoot Hill and its course is about east. If the bore is continued as proposed it will be watched with more than general interest.

RETURNS RECEIVED ON A PROSPECTIVE SHIPMENT

A [illegible] recently sent out from the lease of the main workings of the Rigi mine returned an average of $70 to the ton. A [illegible] is going on on the property north end of the claim, which is also leased. The shaft here is down 112 feet and the lessees are going to extend it to a 200-foot point immediately. They have been much hampered by seepage water and are only now able to resume sinking.

WORK STARTED ON THE HERMOSA CLAIMS.

W. O. Woods of this city, who recently took a bond and lease on the Hermosa and First Chance claims of the Hermosa Gold Mining company, has now started work on the property, and will do extensive development work which it is believed will be productive of good results. The main shaft on the property is now down to a depth of 100 feet, and there have been [illegible] in the shaft of the presence of [illegible] to sink an additional 100 feet at once.

Gazette Cottage Contest Begins June First

Only two days remain during which the people can participate the pleasure of beginning to cast votes for the most popular married couple in El Paso or Teller county. The nominations for the homes of living in the prize cottage will be open until the 1st of July.

[illegible] the city on the rules which will govern the contest. Every possible provision is made to have the contest absolutely fair and to make it as interesting as possible. The provision that the combined ages of the young people shall not exceed 60 years will make it the more interesting.

The announcement in yesterday's Gazette that Farley Brothers would furnish the cottage complete from their unequalled line of household furnishing goods caused much comment and the enterprise of this firm is again evidenced.

Following are the rules:

Rules of the Contest.

[illegible] eligible to the Gazette management, who reside in El Paso or Teller county, is eligible as a candidate. By young married couple shall be understood all married pairs whose combined age does not exceed 60 years and the date of whose marriage is between August 31st, 1890, and August 31st, 1900.

Second. No one in the employ of the Gazette or of anyone who may donate prizes will be permitted to work in the interest of any of the candidates but must remain strictly neutral, except that the solicitors for the Gazette may [illegible] subscriptions for the Gazette from the candidate or their friends for the period of one week or more.

Third. The subscription price will be 15 cents per week or 60 cents per month, or three months for $1.75, delivered by carrier or sent to any address by mail, and on each subscription blank must be written plainly the name and address of the party to whom the Gazette is to be sent.

Fourth. The coupons must be neatly cut out of the Gazette each day and either mailed to the Gazette, Colorado Springs, Colo., or deposited in the voting box at the Gazette business office. Coupons sent by mail will be at sender's risk and to insure delivery should be addressed [illegible] paid. Each coupon may be voted for any one of the candidates in the contest and may be voted at any time during the contest.

Fifth. The contest will cover a period of 90 days from June 3d to August 31st, 1900, both dates inclusive, and the voting will close promptly at 12 o'clock noon on Saturday, September 1st, 1900, and after this time coupons cannot be voted, and any received will not be counted.

Sixth. A preliminary count of the votes cast from day to day will be made by the contest manager and announced in the Gazette each day. However, after the contest has ended each candidate may appoint a representative and these representatives shall constitute a committee who shall aid the contest manager in making the final count. Said committee may, if not satisfied with the contest manager's count, canvass the whole vote. A majority of the committee shall have the right to announce the result of the standing of each candidate in the contest, and such decision shall be final and binding upon all interested parties. In case of a tie vote the contest manager may cast the casting vote.

Seventh. The coupon shall be printed each day during the contest in the daily Gazette only, and no papers in large quantities shall be sold containing the coupon, and only the usual number of papers each day at 5 cents per copy at the newsstands and to the newsboys on the street shall be sold, thereby confining the contest to coupons cut from subscribers' papers so far as this can be controlled by the Gazette management.

Eighth. All blanks printed in preparing, containing the coupon, shall be furnished by the contest manager, and all coupons by the Gazette for the blanks shall have the coupon cancelled.

[illegible] 1900, after said date no further announcements will be received. Contestants may withdraw from the contest [illegible] any time, and when a nominee wishes to withdraw from the contest the interest of any other contestant, nor can any portion of the votes cast for candidates withdrawing be transferred to any other contestant.

Tenth. The results of the contest by at any time during the contest by a majority vote of all the contestants at a meeting of the candidates duly called by the contest manager, subject to the approval of the Gazette management.

MEXICAN LEGISLATION

Bill Introduced Which Discriminates Against American Professional Men.

City of Mexico, May 30.—There is a strong protest being made against the provisions of a bill for the regulation of the exercise of the learned professions, engineering, architecture, etc., there. The bill was presented in the chamber of deputies by Senor Verrido and aims to restrict the practice of any profession [illegible] who do not possess diplomas from the Mexican universities. A TIME FOR BUYING

Nearly all of the really meritorious stocks are selling below their intrinsic worth and almost the entire market is a "buy." We do not anticipate any serious decline during the summer, and believe that the investor who will purchase now and hold on to his stock will come out with splendid profits. There are a number of stocks that offer specially good investments, and upon request we will gladly give our well-considered opinion as to what stocks offer the most attractive investments at the present time.

DIVIDEND PAYERS

There are several dividend-payers which we believe offer not only steady interest on the money invested, but also that offer the opportunity for splendid profits. Write us and we will give you the details concerning the dividend-payers that are most attractive.

PROSPECTIVE DIVIDEND PAYERS

There are several stocks which will, we believe, enter the dividend paying ranks before a great while. These stocks are now selling comparatively low, and we advise the immediate purchase of them both for an investment and for quick profits. We will give particulars upon request.

AMERICAN ATHLETES WILL NOT COMPETE ON SUNDAY

New York, May 30.—A. G. Spalding, director of the athletic sports at the Paris exposition, arrived home on the Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse. Mr. Spalding spent two weeks in Paris acquainting himself with the arrangements for the athletic games, which will be an important feature in the exposition, and he returns well pleased with the result of his sport, owing to the fact that practically everything that America has asked for has been granted.

The most delicate request, and one that caused considerable discussion, was the question of changing the dates of the Sunday games that the American college athletes expect to take part in. Mr. Spalding presented an appeal from the intercollegiate association and other letters, and had personal interviews with the French officials, and thought at one time that it would be impossible to so arrange the dates that they would meet the wishes of the intercollegiate association. Upon arrival in New York he was advised that his assistant director, Dedarfman, had yesterday received that all the athletic championship games in which Americans would appear had been changed to the 14th, 17th and 19th of July.

A seventy-five mile marathon road race has been added to the run on July 19. A valuable prize will be given to the winner. This event was added at the special request of President Bigelow of the New England association to give the American long distance runners a chance to compete against the world. The standing high jump and standing broad jump were added to the programme also, and the position of the William Barry association to have a gaelic football competition between their team and some others not yet selected, has been granted.

Thus far America has secured special favor from the French officials and in fact, a friendly disposition has been shown to go everything in their power to make it possible for this country to be properly represented. America will be well represented officially at the meet and the American athletic authorities who may be in Paris during the games will be cordially invited to officiate.

The rules under which all the athletic events will be contested are to a certain extent framed after the rules of the English Athletic association.

Mr. Spaulding brings with him very favorable information for the amateur athletics that are going over as to the height of the hurdles and the number of hurdles in each event and the obstacles and number of same in the steeplechase, the kind of hammer that will be allowed in the throwing competition and other information which will be translated and published as soon as possible.

BELLEVUE BALL GAME

The baseball game at Washburn Field yesterday afternoon was won by the freight employes of the Santa Fe, Colorado & Southern and Colorado Midland railroads after a close and hotly contested struggle with the freight men of the Denver & Rio Grande and Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific railroads. The score was 15 to 12. The game was one of the best amateur exhibitions of baseball that has ever been seen in this city. It was witnessed by over 1,000 persons, and the crowd was kept interested from start to finish. The proceeds of the game go to the Bellevue hospital and a sum of not less than $100, and probably much more, will be netted that worthy institution. Those who had charge of the funds will today make a report and settlement with Mrs. Goddard, who has been the sponsor for the game, and the full amount raised will be announced. The large audience present at the game despite the counter attractions for the afternoon, is a testimonial to the interest [illegible] that was worked up to the contest and credit for this is largely due Messrs. Knerr and Baxter of the D. & R. G., who worked hard and successfully and had the management of the affair in hand. The boys in the shops are to be given credit for the financial success of the game and they also did their share toward making the match a success.

The victory of the Santa Fe men is due almost entirely to the work of their battery. Blackwell, the professional ball player who was signed by Tebeau for the Denver team, and was not given a chance, demonstrated yesterday that Tebeau had not many men worse than he to play in his team, and probably has several who cannot trot in the same class with Blackwell. He played the game yesterday and it was [illegible] he was a professional among amateurs that he showed up so well, but his work kept the Rio Grande men in the struck out 12 men and in the ninth inning, with two men on bases and nobody out he accomplished the feat [illegible] and thus preventing a score and bringing the game to a successful close. Spoorleider handled the ball for Blackwell and did good work. George Turner the popular colored man at the D. & R. G. depot, pitched for the Rio Grande and did good work but in the fourth inning the Santa Fes found him for a succession of hits that netted eight runs. All during the rest of the game Turner did splendid work. Bishop caught for the Rio Grande and did well in the position.

Knerr, for the Grands, made a very pretty catch of the first fly into center field and in running bases he was a team all to himself, affording much cause for laughter to his many friends, but getting there just the same. Hed, Butler of the Santa Fes, was put out of the game by being hit with the ball right at the start.

Probably the feature of the game was the way in which four men were put out on one play in the eighth inning. The bases were full and Blackwell had just struck out a Rio Grande batsman, but Spoorleider dropped the ball. Under the circumstances, the batsman was out anyway but he started to run for first and the other men on bases started to go around. Spoorleider threw the ball to Blackwell and he caught the man trying to run in home. Blackwell threw to Hed and the runner coming from second was put out and the third man was caught at the plate. This, with the batsman, made the fourth out on the one play.

Following was the score of the game by innings:

Rio Grande .....
Santa Fe .....

DR. WALKER WON AT TOWN AND GOWN

At the Town and Gown golf club yesterday the new part of the course was opened with a handicap tournament. There were two prizes for the play, one for the best gross score and the other for the best net score. The former was won by Dr. Francis Walker with a gross score of 102 for the eighteen holes and the result of the latter contest will not be known for some time today owing to the fact that the handicaps that had been given the different players. It is believed, however, that Dr. Walker won both the prizes.

It was the first golf play on the new half of the course. Owing to the fact that the ground is new it is necessarily rough but with use it will become one of the finest courses in the entire west if not the finest. Dr. Walker's score of 102 strokes established a record for the course of eighteen holes and it will stand until some one brings it down. It is probable

The Sparkle of Life
Is generated by Nervous Energy

You can't have good health and weak nerves at the same time. Your general health is good or bad, according to the condition of your nerves. No theory in this; it is simply founded upon the old law of cause and effect.

Nerve force gives buoyancy, vim and power to both body and brain.

Be convinced of the above facts by trying a box of Palmo Tablets. The greatest nerve remedy of the age. They cure debility.
